To RESET DIVER: Lift pole five to six feet in the air, Then quickly drop tip causing the the line to slack.. DIVER IS NOW RESET!

The Release It's magnetic, not mechanical and resets without retrieving...no more reeling yards of line when diver is accidentally trapped

To RESET: lift the fishing rod five to six feet in the air then quickly drop the tip causing the line to slack. the weight of the diver will cause it to fall and reset the tension of the release is adjustable

Deepest Diving Directional Diver Fish directly behind the boat or adjust to troll to the right or left. out unique "positive lock" insures the diver will stay on track and not slip behind the boat . The depth the diver will reach is controlled by the amount of line let out and the size diver you are using.

Stacked or Bottom fish To trigger a strike, periodically trip the driver and allow it to surface automatically. Now you are fishing at various depths. This works great when fishing is slow. If fish are laying on the bottom , set the diver and let it down until it hits bottom reel in more line , reset and repeat until runs just off the bottom.

In-line planer Want to fish a greater area of water? with some minor adjustments, Kastaway super Mag Diver can be used as an in-line planer. simply remove the metal plate from the flipper. disabling the release. The diver will plane out as far as a planer board, as well as putting the lure 10 to 15 feet down.

Depth As in the case of all divers, the depth is controlled by the amount of line let off behind the boat and the size of the diver you're using. Depth chart on reverse side of card.
